RE: Network for Alabama Teaching Fellows (NATF) Surveys

Stephanie Bell
District III

The Network for Alabama Teaching Fellows (NATF) is an outcome of a collaboration between the Alabama State Department of Education, Alabama Education Association, and A+ Education Partnership. The goal of the NATF is to provide opportunities for educators to help shape current and future educational policies and practices in Alabama. To this end, the NATF has developed a survey to help gather the opinions of Alabama's educators relating to professional development, school climate and professional support, college- and career-ready standards implementation, and fiscal concerns and/or roadblocks to success.
